

JULIANNA STRATTON

Julianna Wiggins Stratton earned her Juris Doctorate from DePaul University College of Law and was trained by the Institute for Christian Conciliation in biblical peacemaking.

She served as staff Conciliator for the Apostolic Church of God in Chicago, IL. Stratton is a founding board member for the Chicago Children's Advocacy Center and lead trainer for Northwestern University's Children and Family Justice Center's Community Panels for Youth Project.

She is an adjunct professor at Loyola University School of Law Child Law Center, and has also taught workshops on conflict resolution.

Juliana and her husband Bill have three daughters.